

New York Agriculture in the Classroom

Dairy Days

An Authentic Learning Experience Pilot

Katie Carpenter, Director

An agriculturally literate person understands and can communicate the source and value of agriculture as it relates to our daily lives.

New York Agriculture in the Classroom

- We believe in real.
- We invest in teachers.

Cornell Cooperative Extension AITC

You will find CCE AITC educators

- In the classroom.
- In the community.

CCE Pilot Partners

- Allegany
- Broome
- Livingston
- Madison
- Monroe
- Nassau
- New York City
- St. Lawrence
- Washington
- Wyoming

Dairy Education

We currently have

- Dairy touches.
- Commodity connections.

We could have

- Meaningful connections.

Project Goal

Students will be able to:

- Understand & communicate dairy's impact on our daily lives.
- Meet curricular goals.
- Increase dairy consumption.

Pilot Highlights

Action 1:

- Support CCE staff & materials

Action 2:

- Virtual Field Trips

Action 3:

- Curated lessons

Pilot Highlights

Action 4:

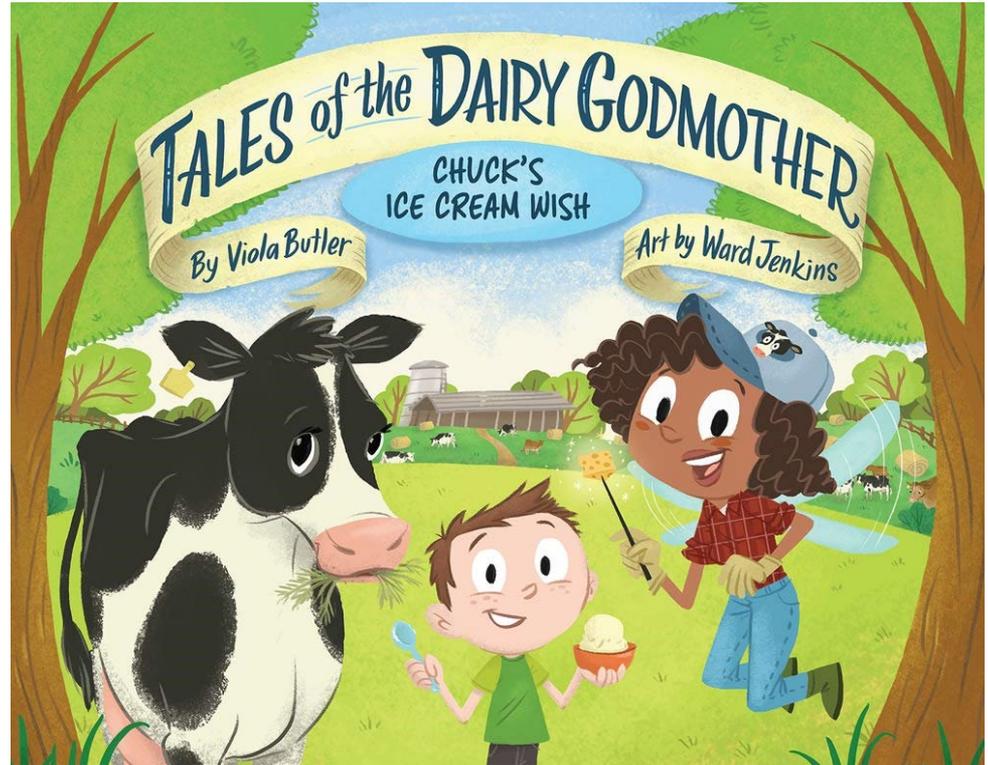

- Agricultural Literacy Week

Action 5:

- Dairy Innovation Contest

Action 6:

- Professional Development

Questions?

Thank you!

Katie Carpenter, Director
kse45@cornell.edu
www.agclassroom.org/ny

Cornell CALS

College of Agriculture and Life Sciences

