Overview

Article 20 of the Agriculture and Markets Law requires farm product dealers who buy or receive more than $20,000 of New York farm products to be licensed. The New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets administers the licensing process, conducts audits of licensed dealers, investigates complaints of unfair and fraudulent practices, and initiates enforcement action for violations to the Article 20 Law.

Dealers are licensed annually on May 1 of every year until April 30 of the next year.
